NOTES AND COMMENTS.

War, war, war, and nothing but war has been in the mouths of everyone for the past three months, and yet, at we have before remarked, there has been little to record and still less accomplished. It is the Spanish Reserve Squadron that is now occupying public attention and is apparently likely to do so for some time to come. First it had sailed for Cuba and was expected to rush to the assistance of Admiral CERYERA, and then, a day or two afterwards, it was discovered to be still lying snugly, is Cadiz harbour from which it had never stirred, except in the fervid imagination of some correspondent. Then another correspondent sent it to sea with sealed orders, and it was allowed to remain at sea for nearly a month without being heard incorporation of the political parties in opposiof until it is again discovered in Cadiz tion to the Government. It is reported that a harbour, for which haven of refuge it appears to possess a peculiar affinity. Called the Rikken Telsel-to. Among the generalissimo and Prime Minister to the short-At length it is reported as having left Cadiz and is sighted off Gibraltar and after it discovers an affinity for another to support the proposal,

Spanish port and turns up at home once more. Since then we have been assured on the authority of no less a person than the Spanish Minister of Marine that it is really and truly bound for the Philippines. Still it is a long while in reaching any place where definite news of it can be gained, and we are almost led to believe that Admiral Camara is a nineteenthcentury Philip Vandendecken, and may make his appearance some stormy night in the middle of Manila Bay or any where else where least expected by the | barce. Americans.

Then we have the American squadron bringing reinforcements for Admiral Drwry, and these too have taken a long, long while to come within reasonable distance of anywhere; but the Dorle, which arrived here yesterday, brought Honolulu exchanges from which we gather that the American transports arrived at that port on the 1st instant and sailed again on the 4th for the Philippines expecting to reach Manila yesterday. The Americans were warmly welcomed at Honolulu and a large American flag was presented to the Captain of the Charleston while the men were Special terms to Horars, Crues, Masses and entertained on all hands as the following clipping from a Honolulu paper shows :-

"We have wined, dined and feasted a lot of men, whom the ladies of this town wouldn't lead at if they met them in their ordinery clothes of workingmen loafers. We have placed the Government of Dole in a very unenviable posttion and faid the country open to severe punishment. We have done this to endanger the digestion and general health of a number of good young men who would have fared much better if they had gone direct to Manile and avolded our potato salads and ginger tous."

"While the "boys in blue" are getting over their dyspensis and their mango fever the great powers are deciding what to do with Hawaii. We shall certainly not to annexed, and the natural question is "what next."

While, however, the whole of the Colony has been anxiously following the slow progress of the Spanish-American war and awaiting news of victory to one side or the other, a war has been waging that affects us to fully as great an extent as that between America and Spain, and a victory has been won which will have more lasting effects and bring more benefit to the Colony and the world at large than can any naval or military exploit. We refer to the announcement by Diseases Ordinance will be once more enforced in Hongkong, which is officially gazetied in a few days. a brilliant victory for science and commonsense over ignorance, prudery, and false modesty, Much outery has been made against certain ladles who copposed the act, but it must be remembered that they acted with the best intentions and according to their own ideas of right and purity If they were able to curb vice. effectually without legislation we should be among the very first to support them, but, as Rudyand Kipling remarks, "Single men in Barracks don't grow into pleaser saints", and the time for the abolition of state regulation of vice has

Once again we must congratulate the local branch of the Navy League, for they, together with the China Association, have worked hard for the re-enforcement of the Act in Hongkong, and their labours, as in the case of the extension of the Kowloon frontier, have been crowned by success." means the least, will be the restricting of brothels to certain quarters of the town, which will make police supervision more easy, and will remove many annoyances to which those whose circumstances compel them to live in the more crowded parts of the city have long been exposed. We hope, however, that there will be something more than a mere re-enactment of the old fordinance. It stood largely in need of amendment, and before it can come usefully into operation a new Lock Hospital will have to be provided.

There remained therefore the decision of the Magistrate to be upheld with was made, regard to the first and second.

The Chief Justice-Of course, there is very great diference between the case of the first and reconddefendants. That is my opinion atpresent. The Attorney General then pointed out that the second def ndant was sitting on a table with a paper and pencil in his hand and packets of money on the table, the total amount of one of which corresponded with the figures in the paper in his hand.

Mr. Francis-I think I said at first that there was some case against the first but with regard to the second there is a serious difference. The Chief Janice-In my own mind I have clear opinion as to what he came from Macao for but at the same time there is no evidence to prove it. I think, Mr. Attorney, you will find it very difficult to support a conviction in this case. The Attorney-General said that he should open the case with regard to the first and second. The Chief Justice said that according to practice the appellants, f.s. Mr. Francis, should open. The Pulsne Judge concurred. The Chief Justice-We call upon you, Mr

Francis, to support your appeal with regard to the first defendant. Mr. Francis said he abandoned the appeal against the first. He submitted that with regard to this man for the first offerce, the punishment way too heavy. It was the maximum penalty and there was no previous conviction againm him and he asked their Lordships to medify the sentence. With reference to the money in the safe, Counsel asked that the Court should make a declaration that it was not in actual use for the purpose of gambling nor was it found on the person of thetkeeper. The money amounted to The Poisse Judge-You want the money

Mr Francis-Yes. The Paisne Judge-Well, who to? Mr. Francis said what he wanted was that an order should be made by the Court as to whether or not the money was used for the purpose of gambling. Was there sufficient evidence, he saked, on the face of the depositions to justify their Lordships in finding that the money was actually used for the purpose of gambling? There was grave suspicion but there was no more evidence than in the case of the second defeedant

The Attorney General argued at great length

that the decision of the Magistrate should be upheld with regard to the second defendant. The Chief Justice-The result of the hearing is this, that with regard to the third, fourth and fifth appellants, the Attorney General feels that he cannot support the conviction in the Court below and, therefore the result is that with togard to them, the decision of the Magistrate is reversed and the information against these months, and then in order to make up the full | 1708 that we realise what a magnificent rule she term of nine months, he has also awarded the is, term of three months imprisonment with hard . I think this is the burden of the buildence against him. Is that sufficient to cuable to to say that he was essisting in conducting the business of that Weising Lattery? I confess in regard to all the circumstances I am not able to say so. Although in fact, the circumstances are against him they are quite consistent with Tung Chung ust here and he yesterday sent off his innocence. Being there, I do not myselfee any reason why he might not have sat on that table and with a pencil in his hand and he quite innocent. I will go further, I do not think that even if the Court is satisfied that he wrote the numbers that it necessarily indicates that he has any connection with the Lottery business. It might be that the first defendant requested him to write the amount. On the whole I think although no doubt one may strongly suspect that the second appellant was engaged in this after tiffin they went at it and rowed builness and came over in connection with it, yet it appears to me that we will be doing wrong and siraining the law if we hold that he was a keeper of the gambling house. Therefore, the conviction, so far as he is concerned, is reversed and the information dismissed. Then the only other question is with regard to the money. The Magistrate made an order forfeiting the whole of the money, papers and implements found in the house and the place was adjudicated heads and the sweating coolies plied their pad- by the Magistrate to be a common gambling dies with all the spirit of Oxford and Cambridge | house within the ordinance. SYDNEY, June 1st. "A plague o' both your houses" is what the average citizen feels, if he does not say it, whenever he picks up his daily paper. Column after column of Federation speeches, letters and articles, together with anti-federation dittos have fairly tired us. One paper insists that shall vote "no" for the Convention bill, and points out nothing but ruin for the Colony If it is carried, and other journals again give countless reasons why you should vote yes." It is a big question and one that needs very careful handling but it is doubtful if all the clapitap and stomp speeches we have had of late have left the mass of the people any wiser than before. Those who contend that the bill will injure us to the advantage of Victoria have many followers, but as the matter is to go to the poll in a day or two we shall see what we shall see.

The "indignant ratepayer" is a very indignant person indeed at times. Here's an example—at the last meeting of the Strathfield Borough Council a letter was received from a ratepayer complaining about the condition of the footpath in front of his house. One of the biggest funeral gatherings ever seen here assembled at Waverly Cemetery on Sunday May 27, when the remains of Michael Dwyer, "the Wicklow Chief," who took a prominent part in the rebellion of '98, were interred together with those of his wife. There must have been tens of thousands of people about St. Mary's Cathedral where the service was held. On every hand bits of green sibb n and miniature harps were to be seen and all the leading Irisbrien in the colony were present. The various guilds and Catholic ledges mustered strongly and all united in paying honour to the dead. At the grave Dr. McCarthy delivered a stirring ad iress. A very handsome monument is to be crected with the Celtic cross in granite and the Round Tower, Ogham stones and other emblems of the Green Isle's patriots. Dwyer died here in 1825 and was formerly buried in the old Devenshire Street Cemetery,

The "New Guines Land Grab" is causing some talk just now and from Brisbane we hear that the Acting-Governor (Sir Samuel Griffith) has received a cablegram from Mr. Chamberlain, in reply to the message requesting that the Queen's assent to the ordinance granting 250,000 acres of New Guinea territory to a British syndicate, should be withheld until the contributing I colonies had been consulted. Mr. Chamberlain has suggested further amendments in the ordinance. The Governors and Premiers of N.S.W. and Victoria have been duly advised, and the matter will be held in abeyance until the arrival of Mr. Chamberlain's dispatch.

A terrible experience was that of Captain The party became suspicious, as place after place Scrensen was ordered off the boat and left on an atlacked with fever and scurvy. Mr. Cohen, a Rebals ; If you are med and it is difficult to Jew, and one of the party, died while the ship

A SWORD FOR ADMIRAL DEWEY.

A Bill has been passed, says a Washington dispatch dated the 27th pit., providing for "the honouring of Rear-Admiral Dewey and his brave men, who fought so well in Manila bay," The Bill carries an appropriation for giving a memorial sword to the Rear-Admiral and bronze medals to all the officers and men who were engaged in the fight.

GEORGE THE SECOND.

The Box of Curios of 18th inst. gives an excellent portrait of Admiral Dewey and in an article under the above heading the paper

The Christian name of George has always been prominent in the history of the United States in the past, for it represented a nation's hero in the person of the Father of his Country, It's glory is not to be dimmed through not being able to perpetuate it by noble deeds, for another George has continued its glorious lustre in the person of the naval hero of Manile, Both Georges have been truthful, for when the immortal Washington cut down the cherry tree and his paternal parent stood by with a strap to wallop bim, the first George realized that Truth under the apparent conditions, was the best policy and so in reply to the old man's question said : "Father, I cannot tell alle. I did it with my little hatchet."

It turns out that Admiral George Dawsy is the same kind of a trath-speaker, for when we asked him how it was he pummelled the Spapiards so at Manlia he bravely spoke up " Boxle, I cannot tell a lie. I did it with my

George Washington became noted for his truthfulness and the brave deeds performed during the Colonial War and, for his goodness and greatness, his picture has been handed down to the present day and every little child is familiar with each feature. To-day George Dewcy deserves to be treated likewise and, as a starter, Boxis presents his picture to the world as one being worthy to be honoured by his countrymen; he has already been praised by all nations as a hero both modest and brave. He needs 'no praise at our hands, even if we were competent to sound them, for his name is already indelibly engraved upon the tablets of the memories of his countrymen and indelibly, inscribed upon the pages of history-two spots that will ever remain green
